Working schedule:

Own patients will be given, must be followed during their stay. 11th semester students must help in organizing daily work of students coming out for one week practical. 11th semester students must write daily reports into the DokiforVets patient program. On clinical rounds in the afternoon they should present their cases. They have no duty and no right to communicate with the owners. It is the duty of the vet employed by the University, whoever is responsible for the patient.

During the practical students should fulfill all of the cases listed on clinical cards for equine patients.

On Journal Clubs they must participate actively. They should give their email address at the beginning of their practical at the secretary of the Department to Edina Pataki (upstairs at the Equine Clinic), in order to receive the papers before the JC.

11th semester students must pick up cases, prepare a ppt from it and present their case at the end of the practical (10-15 minutes).

If there are serious problems rising during the practical with a 11th semester student (not present on obligatory events, often late..), it must be discussed within the first 2 weeks with a senior lecturer from the clinic. If problems are not solved, the practical for this student will not be accepted.

Students having their practical on outside locations must sit a practical exam at the end of their practical in the Equine Department. The exam is organized in a written form by the Equine Department.
