

Dr. Christine Aurich

DVM Hannover Veterinary School, Germany, 1990; Doctor med vet Hannover Veterinary School, Germany, 1992; Habilitation Hannover Veterinary School, Germany, 1997.

Head of Centre for Artificial Insemination and Embryo Transfer and of the Graf Lehndorff Institute for Equine Science, University for Veterinary Sciences, Vienna, Austria; Diplomate of the European College of Animal Reproduction (ECAR); Chair of the Scientific Board of the International Symposium on Stallion Reproduction; Member and designated chair of the Scientific Board of the International Symposium on Equine Reproduction.

Associate Editor for the journal Animal Reproduction Science. Current research is directed on the establishment of early pregnancy, late pregnancy and parturition as well as gamete and embryo preservation in domestic animals with main emphasis on the equine species.