

Our client is the private owner of an extraordinary small animal clinic with numerous diplomates. This hidden champion with is equipped with a spacious operating wing and, in addition to a 64-line CT, has other state-of-the-art medical technology. The patients are predominantly small animals, the proportion of exotic animals is increasing steadily. 2/3 of the clients are referral patients and their number is growing steadily. Due to the high population and animal density, the catchment area is still manageable.

Further education and training are very important here and work on a European level: The clinic has authorization for further education for six specialist areas and offers residencies for surgery and neurology. It is considered the price leader in the region. The bird department and imaging set standards nationwide. In addition to the financial resources, more than 1000 square meters of reserve space are available ready for occupancy for the planned expansion.

All employees benefit from the personal atmosphere and the regular internal and external training opportunities. Low fluctuation in the team and the own annual training day for veterinarians and assistants from the region promote the community of clinicians and referring physicians.

We are looking for a veterinarian (m/f/d) for a newly created position

Senior dentist (m/f/d)

The task:

- You are part of the two-digit, internationally mixed veterinary team, which is currently divided into five departments.
- Your focus is on the dental consultation or dental surgery including imaging diagnostics. You are the first point of contact for patient owners and referring colleagues for all relevant questions.
- In addition to a wide variety of fracture, root and enamel treatments, you will independently perform e.g. denture renovations and offer prosthetics and dentures. You acquire techniques that you have not yet learned on your own initiative.
- In accordance with your good reputation as a dental expert, you will build up your own customer base.
- Active maintenance of relationships with the referring small animal practices is one of your most important everyday tasks.
- With your confident, competent and collegial demeanor, you are an important figurehead for the clinic.
- You are proactive in training younger colleagues.
- The office is located in an attractive city in Western Germany
- You report directly to the private owner of the clinic.

The requirements:

- Authority of a confident expert who enjoys dealing with people and animals.
- Completed veterinary medicine degree.
- You can show the additional qualification or the specialist veterinarian title for dentistry or you are resident / diplomate at the EVDC / AVDC.

- Several years of experience, routine and knowledge of small animal dentistry are required.
- Independence, humanity and a willingness to communicate.
- Good knowledge of German or the willingness to acquire it shortly.
- Positive attitude towards veterinary entrepreneurship.
- Ambition to establish yourself as the expert in veterinary dentistry within the region.

The offer:

- This is where collaboration and professional development are a pleasure: Become an active member of a large group of highly qualified veterinarians.
- Large number of patients, varied cases.
- We offer you the opportunity, which is rare in Germany, to set up an independent dental department with a team under the umbrella of an independent small animal clinic and to take on responsibility as the sixth department head.
- Use the 64-line CT and the excision tooth station as well as the latest generation of digital dental x-rays in combination with the expertise of your colleagues for e.g. Anesthesia, Radiology and Surgery.
- Regulated working hours.
- The clinic is located in the middle of a well-known city, which, in addition to the best transport connections and top infrastructure, is also known for its cosmopolitanism, fashion, cheerfulness and high quality of life.
- An international team of experienced experts supports your personal success!

Our consultant Dr. med. vet. Felix von Hardenberg and his team are available on +49 8178 9986410. Please send your detailed application documents (curriculum vitae, salary expectations and earliest possible starting date) by email to application@hardenberg-consulting.com, quoting the reference number 2078911.

www.hardenberg-consulting.com

Job offer 2078911 / Stellenangebot 2078911