

Situations vacant on MALTA

An opportunity has arisen for an English-speaking Veterinarian to work in sunny Malta.

This is an opportunity to enhance one's medical expertise within a highly reputable veterinary company as well as to enjoy and experience life in a mild climate in an enviable Mediterranean setting where work and life balance is considered highly important.

Work involves, but is not limited to, examinations and surgical interventions mostly on cats and dogs.

The Maltese veterinary company owns 2 clinics one situated in Sliema, a cosmopolitan seaside town and one in Attard, a well established and upper market residential area. Both clinics are very well equipped boasting a wide range of diagnostic equipment. Accommodation for the chosen candidate, situated next to the clinic premises, is offered as part of the package. The salary package being offered is commensurate with the candidate's experience.
