CAB Abstracts (1910–2011)
FSTA, Zoological Record
+ full-texts

<http://ovidsp.ovid.com/autologin>

The full-text articles of the subscribed journals can be accessed directly via the databases if in the results list you click on the „Full text” link which can be seen next to the record on the right-hand side. You can immediately read 11.000 journals (Science Direct, Ebsco, Springer, veterinary journals) and CAB full-text conference and other materials that are not readily available anywhere else. „My projects”/”My workspace” – Your own „desk”: with a free registration it is possible to save results and searches, get information about new publications and request electronic table of contents.

Electronic books

CAB eBooks: Animal and Veterinary Sciences – 66 full books via the databases’ opening page by clicking on the „Books” panel. 14 books can be accessed in full-text via Science Direct (Elsevier) (<http://www.sciencedirect.com>) including textbooks. Choose the Browse/Full text available/All books options to see the list, then mark ALL at the end of the alphabet. All books can also be directly opened from the homepage E-services/E-books.

The screenshot shows a search results page for the term 'mastitis'. On the left, there are search filters including 'Filter By' with options for 'Years' (All Years, Current year, Past 3 years, Past 5 years, Specific Year Range) and 'Subject', 'Author', 'Journal', and 'Publication Type'. The main results area shows two entries:

- Mastitis associated transcriptomic disruptions in cattle. Rinaldi, M. Li, R. W. Capuco, A. V. Veterinary Immunology and Immunopathology. 2010. 138: 4, 267-279. many ref. [Journal article. Conference paper] View Abstract
- The proteomic advantage: label-free quantification of proteins expressed in bovine milk during experimentally induced coliform mastitis. Boehmer, J. L. DeGrasse, J. A. McFarland, M. A. Tall, E. A. Shefcheck, K. J. Ward, J. L. Bannerman, D. D. Veterinary Immunology and Immunopathology. 2010. 138: 4, 252-266. many ref. [Journal article. Conference paper] View Abstract

For each result, there are options to view the abstract, full text, or internet resources. An orange arrow points from the 'View Abstract' link of the first result to the 'Full Text' option in the right-hand menu.
